

FUNDRAISING TIPS FOR THE BDFNC FAMILY FESTIVAL

Whether you're part of a team or fundraising as an individual, here are some ideas you can use.

- Host a fundraising event bake sales, craft sales, yard sales, movie nights, auctions and more. Don't forget to make flyers to let the whole community know about your event.
- Contact a local business to sponsor a fundraising dinner, ice cream or frozen yogurt night where they donate a percentage of sales to your fundraising goal.

Start a letter writing campaign to family, friends and community members.

- Write a letter or email to let people know what you are doing and why you are doing it.
- Tell your personal story and make it clear why the Bleeding Disorders Foundation of North Carolina (BDFNC) Family Festival for Bleeding Disorders is important to you and your family.
- Send to family members, friends, co-workers and business associates (try using your holiday card mailing list) 3-10 weeks before the event.

Use Social Media

- Use Facebook, YouTube, Twitter, Instagram, LinkedIn and other social media outlets to let your contacts know you are fundraising.
- Encourage your friends to donate with your status updates by using facts about bleeding disorders (see our Fast Facts sheet). Be sure to include a link to your personal fundraising web page in each status update.
- Share event information directly from BDFNC's social media. Like, follow or link to BDFNC on Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, LinkedIn or YouTube and share with your contacts.

You may be told "no", but you will never hear a "yes" if you don't ask all of your contacts!

However you choose to get the message out, don't forget...

- Let readers know donations are tax-deductible and checks should be made payable to the Bleeding Disorders Foundation of North Carolina or BDFNC.
- Sending thank-you notes after the event to everyone who sponsors you is a great touch.
